

MOMENTS IN BLACK HISTORY

Dr. Carolyn L. Robertson Payton is the first woman and first Black director of the Peace Corps. Payton was born May 13, 1925 in Norfolk, Va. The Bennett College graduate attended the University of Wisconsin-Madison, earning a M.S. in Clinical Psychology. She then earned an Education doctorate from Columbia University. During her post-graduate studies, Payton worked as an educator and landed a prime job as an associate professor of psychology at Howard University. This would be the start of a deep connection with the celebrated HBCU. In 1964, Payton took a job with the Peace Corps in 1964 as a field assignment officer for volunteers serving West Africa. In 1967, she was named director of the Caribbean region for the Corps. Payton stepped down from the organization in 1970 and returned to Howard to direct its University Counseling Service (UCS) helping to expand its impact on the neighboring community. In 1979, Payton found herself back at Howard, this time as its dean of Counseling and Career Development, doing so while also advancing psychology services for communities of color. The longtime member of the American Psychological Association spent over four decades with the organization and helped lead its task force related to the psychological needs of Black women. Dr. Payton passed in 2001 at the age of 75.

Religious Education:

Notify the parish office if you have a child to be baptized or if you, your spouse, family member, or friend wishes to be baptized in the Catholic Church. Preparation for First Communion normally begins in first grade and continues through second grade. Baptized children are required to attend PRE classes regularly so that they are intellectually and spiritually ready for First Communion.

John's Gospel does not present a sentimental view of love. This is a type of love that is shown in service and sacrifice. It is difficult to choose to love when faced with hatred and anger. Jesus tells the disciples that all will know that they are his disciples because of the love they show for one another.
